

Alpine Home Media

Custom Home Systems

Home Theater & Audio • Networks • Automation

*Lifestyle Engineering & Design
Home Theater Excellence
Intelligent Energy Control
Simple, Elegant Automation*

Lifestyle Engineering & Design - Make your home work as beautifully as it looks.

You have gone to great lengths to select the right fabrics, furniture and wall coverings to tie your home together. It was a labor of love and the result was worth the effort. You are both proud and pleased every time you watch as your family spends a carefree evening in the sanctuary you have created.

Would you like to enhance it even further while saving yourself countless steps and reducing your energy bills?

Many of the finest homes still rely on manual comfort and control systems. These systems do an adequate job of lighting and heating your home but provide neither the energy savings nor the convenience that can be realized with a holistic, well designed residential control system.

Yes, you may have light dimmers, but how often do you go throughout the house to set those dimmers to look 'just right'? It probably happens only when you are having a dinner party. Imagine one clearly labeled button that sets all of the lights in your home just the way you want them. Now its easy to have that perfect look and feel every evening.

Yes, you enjoy music and have a wonderful stereo, but how often do you 'settle' for just turning on the TV in the kitchen out of convenience? Imagine that pressing that same button also turns on subtle music throughout your home. Music that is exactly to your taste yet of such variety that you never tire of it.

You see, just as you tie a house together with complimentary colors and fabrics, you can tie it together with lights, sounds and other experiential cues to greatly enhance the enjoyment of your home. Often all of the pieces are already in place. They just need to be brought together in a way that is complimentary to your home & lifestyle and convenient enough to use all the time.

All of this and more can be accomplished in existing homes, quickly and with a minimum of mess and disruption. With current wireless technologies you won't have to run any new wires or even damage your wallpaper. You will also probably save at least 20% on your lighting bill every month and save countless repetitive steps.

Alpine Home Media is a specialist and forerunner in the art of lifestyle engineering and design. If this interests you, call us for a chat. If you like what you hear, invite us to stop by so we can explain how these techniques may be applied to your own beautiful home. There is never an obligation for our visit.

Thank you for your kind consideration. I look forward to speaking with you some time.

Best regards,

John Vitiello
President & Lead Design Engineer

www.AlpineHomeMedia.com/NewDay

(845) 398-4582

